Naval Retirement Flag of Jason S. Hollihan Flown in Michigan City

Michigan City, IN – Michigan City Mayor Chuck Oberlie directed that the Naval Retirement Flag of Jason S. Hollihan, Hospital Corpsman-Petty Officer First Class, United States Navy, be flown on Tuesday morning, October 20, 2009, at 10:30 a.m. in honor of twenty years of exemplary military service provided by Officer Hollihan.

“We are honored that Officer Hollihan chose his hometown of Michigan City to fly his retirement flag,” Mayor Oberlie said.

“On behalf of the citizens of Michigan City, I express our combined gratitude to Officer Hollihan for twenty years of dedicated military service to our country.

From saving the life of another sailor while assigned to the U.S.S. Coronado, to establishing a pharmacy at St. Mawgan Base in England, to his recent service at Crane Naval Base in Indiana, Jason has served his country with distinction and represented his hometown of Michigan City extremely well. We congratulate Officer Hollihan for his outstanding service record and thank him for his dedication to our country.”

Officer Hollihan is a 1989 graduate of Rogers High School and he left for boot camp in November of that same year. He has earned distinction with numerous Letters of Commendation, three Navy Achievement Medals and a nomination for Sailor of the Year.

Hollihan is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Earl Hollihan of Michigan City.
